About Producer	'When we started farming the aim was simple – to produce 'a bird with taste' and offer something rather special. We are excited to have achieved this!' Herb Fed Poultry Herb Fed recognise the part husbandry plays in ensuring great tasting produce and the importance of knowing where your food has come from. Their poultry is traditionally farmed, hand-fed and kept in small flocks so that they are truly free to forage for food and roam their Yorkshire pasture. Their birds have something else rather special about them – their unique diet which includes over 10 varieties of fresh herbs. On top of their natural cereal based feed, free from additives and growth promoters, they have adapted the bird's diet to introduce fresh herbs. The herbs are a by-product produced locally, by Edwards Aunt's herb company – Herbs Unlimited. Herb Fed Poultry are proud to be the only producers in the country feeding poultry on this diet. By maintaining the highest possible animal welfare standards and enhancing their diet with fresh herbs, our birds have a flavour that is difficult to beat.
Ingredient Sourcing	Because our poultry has had time to grow slowly, reaching maturity naturally, the taste and texture has had time to develop further. The fresh herbs we introduce really enhance the natural flavour of the meat giving it a greater depth and unique taste. Fresh herbs are put in custom made miniature hay racks in the bird's fields where they are free to peck away at them at their will. All the herbs are a by-product of Herbs Unlimited and are either trimmings or herbs that have simply gone past their best and would otherwise end up on a compost heap. Pecking through the herbs keeps the birds occupied and stimulated resulting in happy and extremely healthy birds. Furthermore, the herbs provide additional nutrients to their diet on top of the additive free cereal based feed they get from a local mill. By using this waste, Herb Fed is not only contributing to our bird's quality of life, but doing so in a way which is sustainable and environmentally friendly.

About Supplier	Herb Fed was founded by Edward Wilkinson, chartered surveyor turned farmer! Edward left London in the credit crunch and with farming in his blood, returned to Yorkshire to develop his own business. He wanted to produce poultry of quality, but with a special difference that set it apart from others. He could also see the shift from mass produced supermarket meat, to a call for provenance and traceability.
